

GEORGETOWN.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hassel, of Twenty-seventh Street, are at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Robert T. Wheeler and daughter, Miss Genevieve, have returned from a lengthy stay at Atlantic City.

Ensign George H. Fort, who has been the guest of his parents on Q Street, has returned to the U. S. S. Utah at Newport.

Mrs. George Fort and little daughter Frances will spend the month of August in the Virginia mountains.

Miss Rebecca Worthington is spending some time at Cape May.

Judge and Mrs. Lacy and family left on Tuesday for Nova Scotia for a stay of two weeks.

Mrs. Margaret Brown is home from several weeks' visit to her sister, Mrs. Walter Roberts, in Virginia.

Miss Grace Kirby, of Pittsburgh, who has been the guest of her aunt, Miss Alexander, has left for her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cragin, after a two weeks' visit to their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Grunberg, in Gettysburg, Pa., have gone to the White Mountains, N. H.

Mr. Summerfield MacCartney left last week to join a camping party in Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Parria, Jr., have gone to their summer home near Langley, Va.

Miss Louise Arnold is making an extended Western trip, covering about two months and will return the middle of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Beck are entertaining Mrs. Rebecca Oberthur, of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Rebecca Oberthur, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Beck, their daughter Margaret, and Mr. Oberthur and son are leaving shortly for a stay at Ocean City, N. J.

Mrs. Robert L. Middleton is visiting her home in Westfield, Mass. Mr. Middleton will leave to-morrow to join Mrs. Middleton.

Miss Josephine Harvey is the guest for a week of Mrs. Ford at her beautiful country home, Leland, Prince George County.

Mrs. Clementine Wilkins, of Chicago, and grandchildren, Albert and Minnie Brudage, are visiting Mrs. Wilkins' sisters, Mrs. Browning and Mrs. Wynd, of P. Street.

Miss Louise O. Beall is visiting near Richmond, Va., and will go to Atlantic City.

Miss Helen Williams will leave Tuesday to be the guest of Miss Alice Roberts, in Maryland.

Mrs. Booth Bowie, of Fairview, Prince George County, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams.

Sgt. Charles G. Smith, U. S. N., was the guest of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Harvey, for a few days. Dr. Smith has left for Philadelphia to join his ship, the U. S. S. Mississippi.

Mr. G. N. Petty, of Front Royal, who has been the guest of Mrs. O'Neal, has returned to her home.

Mrs. Charles A. Smith and family left yesterday for Colonial Beach.

Mr. J. Steele, of Maine, has returned to his home after a visit to his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. S. Kibler.

Mrs. James Young and two little daughters left yesterday for a visit to Mr. Young at Mount Vernon.

Mrs. Charles Engle and daughter, Miss Kelly, have gone to Narragansett Pier, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mecklin have returned from their wedding trip and are living at 3020 Cambridge Place.

Miss Mary M. Brewer is spending two weeks in Pottsville, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Miller have returned from a month's outing on the Eastern Shore.

Mrs. C. B. Pierce and daughter, Lillian, have returned from a two weeks' visit to Atlantic City.

Miss Fannie Viers and Miss Helen Brunett, of Hickville, are the guests of Miss Lillian Polite.

Mrs. J. D. Sullivan left the first of the week for Atlantic City.

Rev. J. C. Nicholson, of Dumbarton Avenue M. E. Church, has spent the past week visiting with friends. Dr. Nicholson will return in time to conduct the services to-day.

Mrs. Walter Wolverson Stockton, formerly of Georgetown, is visiting her old home in Virginia.

Mrs. M. C. Cobb, who has been the guest of Mrs. James Young, was joined by another daughter, Mrs. J. W. Anderson.

WARNING TO PARENTS.

It is risky to feed raw milk and cream to children or invalids unless you are sure that the farm which produces the milk is of the utmost cleanliness is observed at all times, particularly during milking; that the employees are thoroughly healthy and clean persons; that the cows are free from diseases; that the water used for rinsing is of undoubted purity; and that the milk is quickly cooled and kept cold and covered until delivered to you.

Raw milk often produces Tuberculosis, Scarlet Fever, also Typhoid and other intestinal diseases.

We can guard against infection by properly pasteurizing milk or by home pasteurization.

Properly pasteurizing milk (and cream) by keeping it at 140 deg. F. for twenty to thirty minutes does not affect its nutritive value nor its digestibility. Quick or commercial pasteurization, however, is unreliable.

You can home pasteurize raw milk by heating it to near boiling, then cool, and keep cold and covered until used.

Most indigestion in babies is caused by milk too rich in cream.

Society for Prevention of Sickness, 1234 N. Street, N. W.

Don't ABANDON a good gown just because you have worn it a good deal. Dried in one of the new shades, you can make a new dress of it—at a trivial cost.

Five minutes, fifteen minutes, half an hour, and over an hour passed before the familiar figure of the little old man was seen coming over the first hilltop returning home. All the pricking had to be done over again and the widow and her four awaited the arrival of the man who "might" be a husband to one of them. The mother was the spokesman, and acquainted Mr. Trout with the purpose of their visit.

The pleasantness of the day were exchanged, but Mr. Trout let it be understood that there was positively nothing doing. Talking afterward, he admitted "that one was a pretty likely looking gal of thirty years, but that was too young, by Heck, for him. He said the widow herself would 'a been better, for she had some age to her, but that 'young gal' was certainly pretty."

"If that Cumberland woman don't turn up, why, I guess I'll send for that 'Philly' woman who said she had money for some one to share. I ain't particular about the money, but anyhow, it's a nice thing to have around in case it is needed. I hear a man say once that way of love, to marry for money and work for love, but I don't put much stock in that. I believe in marrying for love and working for money. It seems more reasonable, don't it?"

"Then there's that 35-pounder, who wrote that she had had thirty-one children. I didn't answer her letter and I don't think that I will."

Mr. Trout is expecting a visitor in the next several days and rumor has it that it will be the Cumberland widow who is coming to see him. Mr. Trout won't admit the fact and there is no other way of learning. You newspaper fellows have had enough fun out of me and I don't want to get anything more in the paper until I get married and have it all over with. Then you can do what you want, I was his parting shot at the reporters as they drove away from the house.

McGraw Co. 1132 Pa. Ave. Prepaid Call and Delivery Service. PHONE W. 1346

son of New York, and left Wednesday afternoon for Atlantic City. He is the guest of her son and daughter, Mr. Cobb, and Mrs. A. G. Lewis.

Miss Helen Dix has returned from a camping trip to Harpers Ferry.

Mrs. Barnhardt and daughter, Mrs. Johnson, and Miss Howard, are the next week Capt. and Mrs. Whitfield, in Front Royal, Va.

Miss Lily Brady, of Somerset, is at Bush Wood, Md., for a fortnight's stay.

The Marine Band gave a concert on Tuesday afternoon at the Home for Incurables.

Miss Mary Virginia Kibler has gone to Southern Virginia.

Miss Alice Gertrude Kibler left Tuesday for Berkeley, Cal., to make an extended visit to her cousin, Commander Solon Arnold, U. S. N.

Miss Murdoch is at Atlantic City.

Mrs. George Freeman and Miss Evelyn Freeman are at Atlantic City.

Dr. A. Lewis Kibler has gone to Wilmington, Del., to accept a position with the Du Pont Powder Company.

Mr. J. McKenney Berry spent the week end with Mrs. Berry in Winchester, Va., making the trip by auto. Mr. Berry brought his brother-in-law, Mr. Baker, back with him for a few days' visit.

Miss Lucy Lee and Evelyn Offutt have returned from a visit to Maj. and Mrs. Purcell at their beautiful home on the coast of Massachusetts.

Miss May Kimberly, of Baltimore, is the house guest of Mrs. H. W. Offutt.

Mrs. Frank Hough and son, Harry, are at Sandy Springs, Md.

Mrs. Leonard Frey will return to-morrow from Atlantic City.

Mrs. and Miss May Frey, and Mrs. Frey's sister, Miss Virginia Brod, are the guests of Mrs. H. W. Offutt.

Mr. Reginald B. Looker and Miss Bertha H. Looker left yesterday for Lake Champlain.

Miss Margaret Cumpston has returned from a visit to Bethesda, Md., and will join her sister, Mrs. Anna Cumpston, in Baltimore, where they will be the guests of relatives.

CHESAPEAKE BEACH.

The trains and boats continue to bring large crowds of pleasure seekers, vacationists, and health-seekers to the beach, and the bathing season is in full swing.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lavriere and son, of Washington, are spending the summer at the beach.

Mrs. P. J. Mendell, of Washington, and daughter, Esther, are spending the summer at Camp Killcare.

The visitors at High View from Washington are Miss Clara Cooke, Mrs. Joseph Thompson, and wife, Mr. M. Collins, Mr. John W.

Many Marriage Offers For Aged Maryland Man

Women of All Ages and Descriptions Literally Hurl Themselves at the Head of John Trout.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Frederick, Md., Aug. 10.—Marriageable women of all ages and descriptions are literally hurling themselves at the head of John Trout, the veteran of seventy summers, living at Park Mills, this county. Yesterday a widow and her four daughters, one of the latter also a widow, drove from Montgomery County to Mr. Trout's home and all virtually proposed to marry the old man if he were willing to take them as they were.

The nearest border of the Montgomery County limit is more than six miles from Mr. Trout's home, and although he did not know from what part of Montgomery County they came, they must have traveled a considerable distance. He refused to give any of their names, and said "there had been nothing done, anyway."

Last week Mr. Trout wrote to a Maryland woman asking her to come here and spend a week. She agreed to do so and said that if at the end of that time they cared for each other she would marry him, and they would live together.

Mr. Trout scrupulously refused to give the name of this woman or her address. It has been learned, however, that she is from Cumberland, Md.

It seems that Mr. Trout thinks himself in some way obliged to wait for the visit of the Maryland woman before he can consider seriously any other marriage projects. For this reason he had little to say to the proposals he received yesterday, and the five were sent off in disappointment.

Townpeople Exalted.

The Montgomery County crowd afforded considerable excitement in the small community in which Mr. Trout lives. Ever since Mr. Trout advertised for a wife Park Mills has been kept in a fever of anxiety, the like of which was never before seen in the small valley. The result produced the most extraordinary excitement to the daily visit of the rural carrier at the home of Mr. Trout and the disposal of a large packet of letters each visit. Newspaper men who make the routine nine-mile automobile drive from Frederick to Park Mills are looked upon with wonder and suspicion, for the inhabitants cannot believe that they make the trip only to see Mr. Trout and learn of the progress of his matrimonial ventures.

The visit of the five Montgomery County women yesterday naturally excited keen interest. The party came in a great old carriage, driving into town with a great flourish, and asking "Where Mr. John Trout lived." The women, wonderfully sitting around on cracker boxes in the one small "general store," stared in sullen wonderment and at last one aroused himself sufficiently to give the required information.

The party, with considerable prinking of feminine fiances and furbelows, arrived at Veteran Trout's home and inquired for the old man, only to receive the reply that he was out hunting bees and it was not known when he would return.

None Filled the Bill.

Five minutes, fifteen minutes, half an hour, and over an hour passed before the familiar figure of the little old man was seen coming over the first hilltop returning home. All the pricking had to be done over again and the widow and her four awaited the arrival of the man who "might" be a husband to one of them. The mother was the spokesman, and acquainted Mr. Trout with the purpose of their visit.

The pleasantness of the day were exchanged, but Mr. Trout let it be understood that there was positively nothing doing. Talking afterward, he admitted "that one was a pretty likely looking gal of thirty years, but that was too young, by Heck, for him. He said the widow herself would 'a been better, for she had some age to her, but that 'young gal' was certainly pretty."

"If that Cumberland woman don't turn up, why, I guess I'll send for that 'Philly' woman who said she had money for some one to share. I ain't particular about the money, but anyhow, it's a nice thing to have around in case it is needed. I hear a man say once that way of love, to marry for money and work for love, but I don't put much stock in that. I believe in marrying for love and working for money. It seems more reasonable, don't it?"

"Then there's that 35-pounder, who wrote that she had had thirty-one children. I didn't answer her letter and I don't think that I will."

Mr. Trout is expecting a visitor in the next several days and rumor has it that it will be the Cumberland widow who is coming to see him. Mr. Trout won't admit the fact and there is no other way of learning. You newspaper fellows have had enough fun out of me and I don't want to get anything more in the paper until I get married and have it all over with. Then you can do what you want, I was his parting shot at the reporters as they drove away from the house.

McGraw Co. 1132 Pa. Ave. Prepaid Call and Delivery Service. PHONE W. 1346

Don't ABANDON a good gown just because you have worn it a good deal. Dried in one of the new shades, you can make a new dress of it—at a trivial cost.

Five minutes, fifteen minutes, half an hour, and over an hour passed before the familiar figure of the little old man was seen coming over the first hilltop returning home. All the pricking had to be done over again and the widow and her four awaited the arrival of the man who "might" be a husband to one of them. The mother was the spokesman, and acquainted Mr. Trout with the purpose of their visit.

The pleasantness of the day were exchanged, but Mr. Trout let it be understood that there was positively nothing doing. Talking afterward, he admitted "that one was a pretty likely looking gal of thirty years, but that was too young, by Heck, for him. He said the widow herself would 'a been better, for she had some age to her, but that 'young gal' was certainly pretty."

"If that Cumberland woman don't turn up, why, I guess I'll send for that 'Philly' woman who said she had money for some one to share. I ain't particular about the money, but anyhow, it's a nice thing to have around in case it is needed. I hear a man say once that way of love, to marry for money and work for love, but I don't put much stock in that. I believe in marrying for love and working for money. It seems more reasonable, don't it?"

"Then there's that 35-pounder, who wrote that she had had thirty-one children. I didn't answer her letter and I don't think that I will."

Mr. Trout is expecting a visitor in the next several days and rumor has it that it will be the Cumberland widow who is coming to see him. Mr. Trout won't admit the fact and there is no other way of learning. You newspaper fellows have had enough fun out of me and I don't want to get anything more in the paper until I get married and have it all over with. Then you can do what you want, I was his parting shot at the reporters as they drove away from the house.

McGraw Co. 1132 Pa. Ave. Prepaid Call and Delivery Service. PHONE W. 1346

Don't ABANDON a good gown just because you have worn it a good deal. Dried in one of the new shades, you can make a new dress of it—at a trivial cost.

Five minutes, fifteen minutes, half an hour, and over an hour passed before the familiar figure of the little old man was seen coming over the first hilltop returning home. All the pricking had to be done over again and the widow and her four awaited the arrival of the man who "might" be a husband to one of them. The mother was the spokesman, and acquainted Mr. Trout with the purpose of their visit.

The pleasantness of the day were exchanged, but Mr. Trout let it be understood that there was positively nothing doing. Talking afterward, he

James and wife, Mr. C. A. Johnson, Mr. E. B. Miller, Miss Della Groves, Miss Myrtle D. White, Mr. E. Lappa and wife, Mr. D. Anghenbaugh and son, and Mr. James Spielman.

Dr. and Mrs. Hicks and Miss Evelyn Hicks, of Washington, are at Camp Bay Breeze for the rest of the season.

Miss Marcia, whose camp was recently destroyed by fire, is again pleasantly situated on the bluff, and is entertaining relatives from Philadelphia.

Among the recent additions to the tent colony is Dr. F. W. Reh and family, who have as their guest Mr. John Gill, of Cottage City, Md.

Among the Washingtonians registered at the Belvedere Hotel are the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. I. James, Messrs. J. E. Mutton, W. E. Gunden, A. Russell, E. G. Barnes, W. A. Lehninger, Alfred Lehninger, Daniel W. G. Waggoner, Elias Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. House, Mr. and Mrs. T. Cushing, Mr. and Joseph Haley.

The Misses Zeida and Helena Mons, of Richmond, Va., are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Matfield, for the summer.

The guests at Marinelli are Mr. H. S. Pindell, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. E. R. Knit, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. A. Barton and wife, of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. William Miller and wife, of Brookland, D. C.; Mr. E. Landy, of Trenton, N. J.; Mr. F. J. Rigt, of Trenton, N. J.; Mr. John A. Meenan, of Lambertville, N. J.; Mr. C. C. Goodman, of Trenton, N. J.; Mr. J. Knight and family, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. P. McDonald, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. Frank Schoer, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. James Flaberg, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. R. S. Wilkins, Mr. J. O. Caton, Mrs. R. Keys, of Chicago, Ill.; Mr. J. W. Beckett, of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. J. W. Hodges, of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. J. S. Howard, of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. P. Radice, and family, and Mr. V. Radice and wife, of Washington, D. C.

Brookland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Mitchell and family are at Ocean City, Md.

Miss L. R. Ward, who has been visiting relatives, has left for her home in Virginia.

Ray, H. W. O. Millington and Mr. Yale Millington left last week for points on the Hudson and Vermont.

Mrs. Millington and Miss May Millington have gone to Annapolis Park, N. J.

Mr. Bushrod Washington and Mr. Albert Woodson have joined Mr. Marshall Brierty at Colonial Beach where they will camp, returning about the middle of August to Mr. Brierty's land.

Mrs. May Burr and Miss Burr have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. John Adridge, who were on their way to Orkney Spring, Va., from their home in Annapolis, Md.

Capt. and Mrs. Ramsey are at Brookland Heights, Md.

The date set for the marriage of Mr. Lewis Sherwood, Jr., of Brookland, and Miss Katherine March, of Scottsville, Va., is Wednesday, August 21. The marriage will take place at the home of Miss Lynch in Scottsville. Mr. Sherwood will bring his bride to Washington to reside.

Miss Agnes E. Dowling left Tuesday to visit in Baltimore and New York.

Mrs. and Mrs. Fisher and daughter have gone to Atlantic City.

Dr. Aubrey Landry, who has been here since his arrival in Nantucket, Mass.

Mrs. M. B. Dowling left on Thursday for a month's stay in Atlantic City.

Dr. Frank O'Hara has left for his home in Minneapolis, Minn.

Miss Elizabeth Schreiffus left with a party for Norfolk and Virginia Beach on Saturday.

Miss Lillian McDevitt has returned from visiting in Providence, R. I., and other points North.

Mrs. A. Rayton and children, of Pittsburgh, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Harbough and children left Saturday for Virginia Beach.

Mrs. W. W. Tuckey is entertaining her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McNamee.

The gray nuns of Canada have rented the McLean house, Twelfth and Lawrence, for the winter, and they will pursue a course of studies at the Catholic University.

Miss Florence Bykes is the guest of her grandmother in Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bean and family are visiting relatives in Brookville, Md.

Miss Elizabeth Hutton was the guest during the week of the Misses Henry, Miss Hutton, and Miss O'Brien, who were here for a party in Barton, Md., and will visit in Laurel before returning to her home in Warrenton, Va.

FACTS CONCERNING KING'S FAVORITE

Nina Oldoini's Story Told by French Writer in Book Soon to Be Published.

Paris, Aug. 10.—Twelve years ago there died at sixty-five, according to some records, a once famous beauty, whose career was one of the strangest of the Second Empire days. Nina Oldoini, Countess of Castiglione. Her legal name was Nina Oldoini, but she sometimes herself insinuated that her real father was Joseph Ponsotowski, last King of Poland, who never reigned. At fifteen she was married to the Count of Castiglione. At seventeen she came to Paris, sent, apparently, by Cavour. She and the count had parted, and her mission in Paris was to "get round" Napoleon III. Hence the war in which France helped Italy, and hence, therefore, United Italy.

Perhaps the lady exaggerated her political influence, but it is at least certain that she did fascinate Napoleon III, and at all events her life, as told by M. Frederic Lollies in his volume "La Roman d'une Favorite," shortly to be brought out in English, is fascinating reading. At the Court of the Tuilleries the beautiful Madame di Castiglione played a foremost part. She enjoyed appearing as a rival of the Empress, who had been Mrs. Madame de Montijo when Nina di Castiglione had first appeared in Paris.

The two women did not love one another. M. Lollies tells a story of Madame di Castiglione's bathroom machinations. She and the Empress had the same hairdresser, who one night had arranged a sensational new coiffure for her imperial mistress. Madame di Castiglione begged him to do her hair in the same manner. He complied, but obtained word of honor that she would not appear with that coiffure in the presence of the Empress. At the next ball at the Tuilleries, as the Empress entered with the new coiffure, Madame di Castiglione, who had cheerfully perjured herself, came in from the other end of the room with her hair done in the same manner. Empress and favorite glared at one another, and each went her way.

The last years of the beauty were a tragedy. After the fall of the Empire she turned to the Duc d'Orleans and tried to act the Egeria to the Comte de Chambord, the Duc d'Alenque, and the Comte de Paris. But as she aged her political influence died, and her end was miserable. She shut herself up in her flat in the Place Vendôme, and then in the Rue Cambon, and lived miserably among memories. The last chapters of the book are gruesome reading.

McGraw Co. 1132 Pa. Ave. Prepaid Call and Delivery Service. PHONE W. 1346

Don't ABANDON a good gown just because you have worn it a good deal. Dried in one of the new shades, you can make a new dress of it—at a trivial cost.

Five minutes, fifteen minutes, half an hour, and over an hour passed before the familiar figure of the little old man was seen coming over the first hilltop returning home. All the pricking had to be done over again and the widow and her four awaited the arrival of the man who "might" be a husband to one of them. The mother was the spokesman, and acquainted Mr. Trout with the purpose of their visit.

The pleasantness of the day were exchanged, but Mr. Trout let it be understood that there was positively nothing doing. Talking afterward, he admitted "that one was a pretty likely looking gal of thirty years, but that was too young, by Heck, for him. He said the widow herself would 'a been better, for she had some age to her, but that 'young gal' was certainly pretty."

"If that Cumberland woman don't turn up, why, I guess I'll send for that 'Philly' woman who said she had money for some one to share. I ain't particular about the money, but anyhow, it's a nice thing to have around in case it is needed. I hear a man say once that way of love, to marry for money and work for love, but I don't put much stock in that. I believe in marrying for love and working for money. It seems more reasonable, don't it?"

"Then there's that 35-pounder, who wrote that she had had thirty-one children. I didn't answer her letter and I don't think that I will."

Mr. Trout is expecting a visitor in the next several days and rumor has it that it will be the Cumberland widow who is coming to see him. Mr. Trout won't admit the fact and there is no other way of learning. You newspaper fellows have had enough fun out of me and I don't want to get anything more in the paper until I get married and have it all over with. Then you can do what you want, I was his parting shot at the reporters as they drove away from the house.

McGraw Co. 1132 Pa. Ave. Prepaid Call and Delivery Service. PHONE W. 1346

Don't ABANDON a good gown just because you have worn it a good deal. Dried in one of the new shades, you can make a new dress of it—at a trivial cost.

Five minutes, fifteen minutes, half an hour, and over an hour passed before the familiar figure of the little old man was seen coming over the first hilltop returning home. All the pricking had to be done over again and the widow and her four awaited the arrival of the man who "might" be a husband to one of them. The mother was the spokesman, and acquainted Mr. Trout with the purpose of their visit.

The pleasantness of the day were exchanged, but Mr. Trout let it be understood that there was positively nothing doing. Talking afterward, he admitted "that one was a pretty likely looking gal of thirty years, but that was too young, by Heck, for him. He said the widow herself would 'a been better, for she had some age to her, but that 'young gal' was certainly pretty."

"If that Cumberland woman don't turn up, why, I guess I'll send for that 'Philly' woman who said she had money for some one to share. I ain't particular about the money, but anyhow, it's a nice thing to have around in case it is needed. I hear a man say once that way of love, to marry for money and work for love, but I don't put much stock in that. I believe in marrying for love and working for money. It seems more reasonable, don't it?"

"Then there's that 35-pounder, who wrote that she had had thirty-one children. I didn't answer her letter and I don't think that I will."

Mr. Trout is expecting a visitor in the next several days and rumor has it that it will be the Cumberland widow who is coming to see him. Mr. Trout won't admit the fact and there is no other way of learning. You newspaper fellows have had enough fun out of me and I don't want to get anything